POULTRY SHOW TO BE NEXT ATTRACTION

DATES FIXED, JANUARY 31, FEBRUARY 1 AND 2.

POULTRY AND PET STOCK

Special Meeting of C. of C. Wednesday Afternoon; Committees Appointed to Make Arrangements.

There was a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon in the directors' room of the First National Bank, for the purpose of making final arrangements for the proposed Community Poultry and Pet Stock Show. The meeting was called by Pres. E. E. French, who presided, and stated the objects of the special session. On motion of Judge C. W. Warner, seconded by Judge Seely, the dates fixed for holding the show were Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 31 and February 1st and 2nd, being one week later than was announced last week, as it was thought the time would be somewhat short to hold the affair as originally intended.

A motion by Judge Copeland prevailed, that the matter be left in the hands of President French, with power to appoint all committees.

Mr. French said the finance committee should have charge of the prizes and selection of judges, and named the following committees:

Entry—Judge Warner, R. C. Turner, Judge Seely, John Rothamel and A. J. Young of Talbert.

Exhibits—G. S. Bergey, Ed Manning and A. W. Morehouse.

The rules governing the Los Angeles County Poultry and Pet Stock Show will be followed.

The territory included will be the same as that of the Community Fall Festival, bounded by the Garden Grove road and Santa Ana river, including the Newport mesa.

The entries will include: Chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks, rabbits, peacocks, guinea hens, pigeons, etc. There will be an entry fee.

Those who feel interested should notify Judge Warner, or any other member of the entry committee as soon as convenient for them to do so.

The prizes will consist of donations by merchants and ribbons.

SOME DEMAND FOR CITY PROPERTY IN EVIDENCE.

There appears to be some demand for city property again, as W. D. Seely reports the sale of the house on the east side of Ninth street, near Olive, and 30 other lots and one house to L. A. Stevenson of Covina, for C. H. Howard of Burbank. Mr. Howard takes from Mr. Stevenson an orange grove of 20 acres in the Charter Oak district, near Covina. Mr. Howard will move to his orange grove and improve it.

Mr. Seely also reports an exchange, whereby M. A. Penny gets the house on Main street, near Olive, for Pasadena property. The house will be occupied by Mrs. Hannah Green, sister of Mr. Penny.

E. C. Wright & Co. report the sale of what is known as the Jones property in the Valley View tract, being lots 5, 7 and 9 in block 807, with an 8-room house, to Geo. J. McCurdy, a retired farmer who recently arrived here from South Dakota.

Mr. Wright has also sold the Funderburk home to D. D. Walker.

ADOBE HOUSES FOR MEXICAN LABORERS.

(Sugar Bowl.)

OXNARD.—The American Beet Sugar Company here has made an appropriation of $8000 for the experimental construction of adobe houses for living quarters for Mexican laborers. In Colorado the Mexicans remained in the beet districts when they had a home rent free throughout the year. Other Mexicans joined them and in a short time there was plenty of labor.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC ENTERTAINS.

PROMOTION EXERCISES FRIDAY NIGHT.

The third public entertainment given by the Valentine Conservatory of Music and Arts occurred Friday evening of last week in Odd Fellows' hall.

The entertainment was designated as Promotion Exercises, and was well attended. The lodge hall was nicely decorated for the occasion.

Each of the pupils present was given a certificate of promotion at the close of the exercises. The Promotion Exercises marked the close of the fall term of this popular musical institution.

Mrs. Cunningham, director of the conservatory, announced that Wylda Bell Millison had taken charge of the dramatic art department of the conservatory, and would be pleased to enroll pupils for that department. Miss Millison rendered a colored dialect reading, being her first appearance, and her efforts were appreciated. Miss Millison is recently from New York, where she was with Mrs. Fiske in her latest success.

Mrs. Cunningham also stated that Mrs. Geo. O. Franklin has consented to take charge of the scholarships for the school, and any person who can afford to pay the tuition for some worthy child to secure a musical education may have an opportunity to do so by communicating with Mrs. Franklin or direct with the conservatory. There are several worthy children in this vicinity who require assistance in this line, and those who can afford to do so could not spend a few dollars per month where it would be of more benefit than to carry a scholarship in this school. There are some scholarships being carried now, but those doing so cannot assist all who need it.

The following program was rendered:

Piano Duet, "Water Mill" (Diehl), Betty Onson and Mrs. Cunningham.

Vocal Solo, "A Disappointment" (Schumann), Leah Chapin.

REGULAR MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES.

NEXT MEETING JANUARY 19TH

Ford Truck For Fire Purposes Is Purchased; Renewal of Pool Room License Granted L. A. Lawton.

The regular monthly meeting of the city trustees occurred Monday night, and the session lasted less than one hour.

The matter of improved fire protection, which has been before the trustees for the past five years, was definitely settled for some time at this meeting, as by unanimous consent the Board adopted a motion made by Trustee Huston, seconded by Trustee Chapin, that the city purchase a Ford truck from T. B. Talbert & Co. for $677.55. Talbert & Co. submitted the only bid in response to an advertisement for bids.

At the suggestion of George McFee, county sealer of weights and measures, an ordinance was introduced regulating the weight of bread, making the standard weight 16 and 24 ounces twelve hours after baking.

City Clerk Chas. R. Nutt read the application of L. A. Lawton for a renewal of his license to operate a pool and billiard room, which was granted on motion of Trustee Huston, seconded by Trustee Decker.

The report of City Recorder Warner showed no receipts for the month of December.

President Tarbox called the Board's attention to the fact that no action had been taken on the protest filed against the improvement of a portion of First, Second and Third streets, and after some discussion, upon the suggestion of Trustee Vavra, it was decided to have a new resolution of intention drawn for the improvement of Second and Third streets, as the protest was against the improvement of First street. City Attorney Alex. P. Nelson stated that the old proceedings would have to be abandoned before the new resolution was published.

President Tarbox asked City Manager Geo. W. Spencer if he knew how much it was costing the city for the gas lights now in service, and he replied that he did not know exactly but thought about $30 would cover the expense.

A report read by the clerk showed that there was collected $31,390.89 of the tax levy of $33,062.65.

The next meeting of the Board will be Monday evening, January 19th.

E. E. French, Eugene Davis and the editor of the News were the sole occupants of the gallery during the meeting.

PRICE OF MILK TAKES ANOTHER JUMP.

The price of milk will take one more step up the ladder of high prices, January 15. The new price will be 14 cents per quart or 8 cents per pint. Cream will sell for 15 cents per half pint or 8 cents for quarter pint. If you should desire something a trifle cheaper, you can purchase buttermilk or skimmed milk for 8 cents per quart. This advance is in line with recent advances announced by the dealers of Los Angeles and Santa Ana, being due to the advancing prices of feed.

CITY ATTORNEY NELSON WAS FOUR-MINUTE MAN.

City Attorney Alex. P. Nelson was the "four-minute man" at the Princess theatre, Saturday night, and he made a good, short, patriotic talk, depicting the horrors and cruelties of the German army. Mr. Nelson said that a grain of wheat was as mighty as a bullet in this war, and advised every citizen to be as economical as possible, so that more staple food products may be forwarded to the soldiers in Europe.

"Say, Ma, where's that picture of Aunt Martha that she sent us last summer? You know, that big one in the gray folder, that was sittin' there on the piano. You don't knok? Well, gee! We ought to be careful with it. That's the first one we've had of her for ten years. No, it ain't in the bottom of the trunk, I just looked there. Seems to me, though, that everybody else's is there. Don't suppose it's behind the piano, do you? Well, let's see. Yes sir, by jing, here it is. I suppose somebody's knocked it over and didn't notice. Well, it's sure in sorry shape now. I'm just goin' to take it down to Rigdon's Studio and have it fixed up and framed, then I know it will be kept in good shape, and I guess I'll take some of the others there in the trunk, too, and have them framed, so's we can look at 'em once in a while. Photos were made to look at and not to store away in a trunk."

MARY MILES MINTER SATURDAY NIGHT.

Edna Goodrich in "Reputation" Sunday Evening.

"THE COLD DECK," WITH W. S. HART, WEDNESDAY.

Theatre-goers of this city have a treat in store, for Mary Miles Minter heads the bill at the Princess Theatre Saturday night in "The Gentle Intruder." This charming actress will be seen at her best in this beautiful five-reel photoplay. A cub comedy and Ford weekly will make a good program.

Sunday evening, January 13th, village gossip is the foundation of the story featuring Miss Edna Goodrich, who plays the role of the small-town girl to perfection in "Reputation." The picture is a drama in the highest sense, yet it affords Miss Goodrich an opportunity to inject into the production those little touches of comedy of which she is pastmaster. The settings in "Reputation" range from typical scenes in a small town to the gayest of the gay New York cabarets; from the Sunday morning service in the village church to the naughty Hula dance. Extraordinary photographic results have been obtained. Miss Goodrich was leading woman with Nat Goodwin in "When We Were Twenty-one." A Mutual weekly and Billy Rhodes comedy complete the bill.

Coming, Wednesday, January 16th, W. S. Hart, in "The Cold Deck." This great Western star needs no comment. The story, being an Ince production, speaks for itself. See heralds for the story. No change in prices.

NO MORE CHANCE TO SPECULATE IN BEANS.

GOVERNMENT HAS FORBIDDEN CONTRACTING.

The Government order, prohibiting future sales of beans, has placed the lima bean situation way up in the higher stratus of the balmy atmosphere of Southern California, where it will remain until the first day of next September, when growers will be at liberty to market their product.

This is a new condition, and none of those who expect to grow beans have any idea what they will receive for their crop. In the past, growers have had the alternative of selling in advance or holding until the crop was harvested. However, there was always a market, if one desired to sell. Now there is no market for the coming crop, and will not be until September. Last season it was reported that cars of beans were sold several times before being unloaded, each time at an advance in price. One car, it is said, was sold 18 times after leaving the grower, middlemen reaping the profit.

SUGAR PRODUCTION LESS THAN LAST YEAR.

FOURTEEN FACTORIES WERE OPERATED.

The following item from "Facts About Sugar," published in New York, shows that the season's production of sugar falls considerably below that of last year:

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—The total sugar production of the fourteen factories which operated in California during the season now rapidly drawing to a close will be approximately 4,000,000 bags, or 200,000 tons. These figures are based on careful estimates and reports from the several companies operating in this field. As compared with the expectations entertained at the beginning of the year, the figures are disappointing, the prospective outturn being 15 per cent less than that of 1916, which was 236,322 tons, according to the statistics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

All except two of the fourteen factories which worked during the present season have already closed, and Alvarado, the factory of the Alameda Sugar Company, is expected to close January 1. The new Tracy factory, operated by the Amalgamated Sugar Company, which was the last to start, will run until about January 9. One factory, newly constructed at Manteca for the Spreckels Sugar Company, did not start in this campaign, and the factory of the Pingree Sugar Company at Corcoran ran only a short time.

ARE YOU BOOSTING

Your own town, or are you indifferent? Of course, you are not knocking it.

Yet every cent you spend out of town for any article carried by the resident merchants of this town, you are doing just that much to kill the place you call home. Don't drive a nail in your own coffin. Let the undertaker do that, he gets paid for it.

Every resident of this place needs the help of the merchants, and the merchants need the support of every resident.

Think this over when you are awake, and dream about it in your sleep.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE IN SIGHT.

The favorable action of the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C., indicates that equal suffrage for the women of the United States is in sight. It is reasonably certain that the Senate will follow the good example of the House of Representatives and pass the bill, by the necessary two-thirds majority, to submit the question to the legislatures of the various states of the Union for final action.

How fittingly appropriate it is that the two great twin-sister questions—Prohibition and Votes for Women—will march hand in hand to the capitals of the 48 states of the nation and demand recognition in the halls of the state legislatures.

A new civilization is dawning, and the crusaders are now battling for an American Union where no man can buy a drink of intoxicating liquor and every woman can vote.

The vote in the House of Representatives, Wednesday, was 274 to 136, just one more than the required number to insure victory for the amendment. The majority in the Senate will be considerably larger.

THE CALENDAR.

(Editorial from Christian Science Monitor.)

The calendar is one of those things which most people take for granted. It is regarded as a simple and necessary equipment of every well-regulated household or office, and few people, probably, pause to consider the wealth of history, stretching back to the remotest period, which lies behind it. In this respect, indeed, the calendar is a snare and a delusion, for, from the very first moment when one begins to make inquiry into its history, one is involved in many other studies. There are associated with it great political questions and great religious questions. There are mazes of the most abstruse mathematical calculations to be faced, whilst it involves, or may involve, a careful study of practically the whole field of astronomy. Then, if anyone imagines, when he first engages in this inquiry, that he has simply to trace through a single thread, which has one end in the beginning of things and the other on his writing desk, he is doomed to disappointment. There are other calendars, still in use today, and many others were at one time in use, and they all have histories. However, the Julian calendar, to which Russia, by a special edict, has at last conformed, after holding out successfully against it for more than three hundred years, is now by far the most important of those at present in use, and the coming in of Russia places it in the position of a world calendar.

Russia, in the change she has just made, has performed an act beside which the national writing off of an hour at the commencement of summer time is indeed a small matter. She has written off no less than thirteen days, and, in order to bring herself into line with the rest of the world, took a lead, last spring, from April 18 to May 1. Thus is a long controversy now practically settled. It had its beginning more than three hundred years ago, and it came about in this way: In early times the Romans were wont to divide their year into ten months, but, later on, in the days of the kings, they adopted the lunar year of 355 days, divided into twelve months, with an occasional intercalary month to preserve the due adjustment. In process of time, however, the priests who had charge of the matter, either through carelessness or ignorance, allowed confusion to creep in, and by the time of Julius Cæsar the matter was crying out vociferously for drastic adjustment. Julius Cæsar, accordingly, grappled with the question in B. C. 46. The year was divided into 365 days, and, every fourth year, one day was added, the length of the year being assumed to be 365¼ days. As a matter of fact, however, the year is less than 365¼ days, by eleven minutes and forty-eight seconds, and this fact was the source of all the trouble which followed, for some sixteen hundred years.

In those sixteen hundred years, the few minutes each year grew into days, and by 1582 the discrepancy between the official date and the actual date amounted to ten days. This shifting of days had caused great disturbances by unfixing the times of the celebration of Easter, and likewise of all other movable feasts, and so, in the year already mentioned, Pope Gregory XIII decided that a reformation was necessary. After carefully investigating the matter, with the help of the astronomer Clavius, he ordained that ten days should be deducted from the year 1582, and that, in the month of October in that year, the calendar should jump from the 4th to the 15th. In order that this displacement should not occur again, it was further ordained that every hundredth year should not be counted as leap year, excepting every fourth hundredth, beginning with 1600. In Spain, Portugal, part of Italy, France and the Roman Catholic Low Countries, the change was made, although not in every case on the same date; but in the Protestant countries the innovation was strenuously resisted, and the Lutherans of Germany, Switzerland and the Protestant Low Countries did not agree to the change until the year 1700. England stood out for another half century, and it was not until 1751 that an act was passed for equalizing the style, in Great Britain and Ireland, with that used in other western countries of Europe. By that time the ten days of Gregory's time had grown to be eleven, and so, when the change was made, the 2nd of September, 1751, became the 14th, and an incensed populace paraded the streets of London, calling upon the authorities: "Give us back our eleven days!" Russia and Greece still held to the old style, the discrepancy, of course, accumulating all the time. Now Russia has made the leap, and Greece alone is left to represent the old order.

THE CITIES OF PEKIN.

"There are three cities in Pekin, and for the last few years there have been four—four distinct cities," writes Mary Gaunt in "A Woman in China." "There is the Imperial City, inclosed in seven miles of pinkish red wall, close on twenty feet high, and in the Imperial City, the very heart of it, behind more pinkish red walls, is the Forbidden City, where dwell the remnant of the Manchu dynasty. . . . Here there are spacious courtyards and ancient temples and palaces, and audience halls with yellowish-brown tiled roofs, extensive lakes—where multitudes of wild duck, flying north for the summer or south for the winter, find a resting place—watch towers and walls, and tunneled gateways through the walls. When through ages the greatest artists of a nation have been giving . . . to the beautifying of a city, the things of beauty in that city are so numerous that it seems impossible to grasp them, especially when their charm is exotic and evasive.

"The Imperial City, all around the Forbidden City, consists of a network of narrow streets and alleys lined with low buildings with windows of delicate lattice work, and curved tiled roofs. Here, hidden away in silent, peaceful courtyards, shaded by gnarled old trees, are temples, guarded by shaven priests in faded red robes. . . . Here are shops, low, one-storied shops, with fronts richly carved and gilded, streets deep in mud or dust, narrow alley-ways and high walls with mysterious little doors in them, leading into secluded houses, and all the clatter and clamor of a Chinese city, laden donkeys, mules and horses, rick-shaws from Japan, glass broughams, weirdly reflecting the glory of modern London, and blue, tilting Pekin carts, with studded wheels, such as have been part and parcel of the Imperial City for thousands of years; all the life of the city much as it is outside the pinkish red walls.

"And outside the Imperial City, hemming it in, in a great square of fourteen miles round, is the Tartar City, with splendid walls. Outside that, again, forming a sort of suburb, lies to the south the Chinese City, with thirteen miles of wall, inclosing not only its teeming population, but the great open spaces and parks of the Temple of Heaven and the Temple of Agriculture. But through the Tartar City and the Chinese City are distinct divisions of Pekin, walled off from each other, all difference between the people has long ago disappeared."

What has become of the blue and the gray?
 They have blended into brown.
The blue once marched against the
   gray,
But now together they march today;
   For there are no Yanks,
   And there is no gray—
 Under one flag they are bound.

What has become of the Yankee lads?
 And where are the Rebels, too?
They've all gone together across the sea
To fight that their country may still be free;
   For there are no Yanks,
   And there are no Rebs—
 Americans only are the gray and blue.

And where is the feeling that once
   they bore
 In the fifty years that have passed?
Every heart that beats, though many are sad,
Goes out with pride to every lad;
   For there are no Yanks,
   And there is no South—
 One land under God, at last.

HOUSES BURNED DOWN MONDAY EVENING.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS DESTROYED BY BLAZE.

A house on the property of the Pacific Ranch Company, east of Huntington Beach, formerly known as the Pacific Gun Club, was burned to the ground Monday evening about 5 o'clock, and the contents of the home were a total loss, with the exception of one chair.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Russell and their two small children, and the family moved into the house from Huntington Beach, Sunday, the day before the fire.

The loss was caused by a child upsetting a small oil heater, which was near the door of one of the rooms. There were no men in the vicinity at the time, and Mrs. Russell was burned about the face and hands and was brought to Huntington Beach for treatment.

Another house close by was also burned, in which was stored a stock of beet seed.

Will Gallienne arrived at the place a few minutes after the fire started and assisted in saving the seed, but was unable to save anything from the residence.

As the family lost almost everything, except the clothing worn at the time, the matter was taken up at the Woman's Club meeting Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. H. T. Dunning, who announced that contributions could be left with her or at the McElfresh store. Mrs. C. A. Johnson, president of the Club, stated today that about $30 in cash and other necessities had been donated.

THIRD NUMBER OF LECTURE COURSE.

WILLIAM RAINEY BENNET DELIVERS GOOD LECTURE.

Appearing as the third number of the High school lecture course, William Rainey Bennet, well-known inspirational lecturer, delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture to a large gathering at the Grammar school auditorium, Monday evening.

Mr. Bennet was introduced to the audience by Judge Louis A. Copeland, president of the First National Bank.

Prof. Bennet's subject for the evening was "The Man Who Can." He brought great stress upon the statement that "a man is never defeated until he admits it." He cited as examples, Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan. He said that the quality that appealed to him in these men was that they did not know when they were licked.

Prof. Bennet's lecture was not only brilliant and dramatic, but very humorous when the occasion permitted.

The fourth number of the lecture course will be Laurant & Co., magicians and entertainers, and will be given Thursday, April. 4th.

TEMPERATURE WAS 38 ABOVE THIS MORNING.

According to the record kept by F. H. Rigdon of Rigdon's Pharmacy, at his home, the temperature this (Friday) morning was the lowest of the season, registering 38 above the zero mark. When the mercury drops below 40, it is considered cold in this vicinity.

The record for the 24 hours, ending Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, showed a range from 42 to 64 degrees, which was a chilly day.

HOME BOWLERS LOSE TO COMPTON TEAM.

GAME PLAYED TUESDAY NIGHT ON COMPTON ALLEYS.

Tuesday night, the home bowlers journeyed to Compton and played a three-game match with the quintet of that city. This was the first match game the Huntington Beach team has engaged in for several months.

There being no sugar up for prizes, the home bowlers did not bowl their regulation game, and the result was that the Compton players got the fat end of a 2432 to 2224 score.

J. A. McCoy made high score for the evening with 207.

The team was composed of J. A. McCoy, Henry Wirth, Paul Hallicy, Ivan Brunton and F. B. Dean. A. M. O'Brien, assistant manager of the Holly Sugar Corp., acted as chief scoutmaster and guide, and M. A. McCreery was scorekeeper and chief rooter.

A number of rooters accompanied the team.

"ONLY A VOLUNTEER."

[By Floyd O. Davis, 27th Aero Sqd., Fort Worth, Texas.]

Why didn't I wait to be drafted,
And be led to the train by a band;
Or put in a claim for exemption—
Oh, why did I hold up my hand?
Why didn't I wait for the banquets?
Why didn't I wait to be cheered?
For the drafted men get the credit,
While I only "VOLUNTEERED."

For nobody gave me a banquet,
No friend said just one kind word;
A puff of the engine, a grind of the wheels,
Were all the goodbyes that I heard.
Then off to the camp I was hustled,
To be trained for the next half year;
And in the shuffle to be forgotten,
For I was only a "VOLUNTEER."

I builded the others their barracks,
While roasting alive in a tent;
I cleaned off a dozen parade grounds,
For the fellows that "ONLY WERE SENT."
Then along came the National Army,
And then it was made very clear,
That the glory goes to the drafted men,
And the work to the "VOLUNTEER."

I've waded the mud in Texas,
I've frozen in Canada's cold;
I've walked my post in the moonlight,
Till this army is getting cold.
But I'm not on their "ROLL OF HONOR,"
And, tho some may shed a tear,
By all the rest I'm forgotten,
For I was only a "VOLUNTEER."

And I dreamed that in far-off Flanders,
On that bloody field of fate,
I "WENT OVER THE TOP," by a bullet was stopped,
Then I knocked at the pearly gate.
And I heard St. Peter saying,
"I've no room for your kind in here;
We're reserved for the National Army,
Hell was made for the "VOLUNTEER."

And perhaps some day in the future,
When my little boy sits on my knee,
And asks what I did in the Great War,
As his wandering eyes look at me.
I'll have to look back into those eyes,
That at me so trustingly peer,
And tell him, "I was not drafted,
I was only a 'VOLUNTEER.'"

MARKET MEAT BY MAIL.

Marketing meat and meat food products by parcel post can be done economically in many instances. Many kinds of meat and meat food products may be shipped at this season without the use of an expensive container. For some kinds of meat an improvised container made of cast-off corrugated paper-board boxes is satisfactory. A market basket also is a cheap and convenient container for shipping meat by parcel post.

Before meat or meat food products can be shipped from one state to another, however, the shipper must furnish for each consignment a certificate of inspection or exemption. Upon request, information in regard to shipping meat and meat food products by parcel post will be furnished by the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture.

OF INTEREST TO GROWERS OF CABBAGE.

(By H. J. Ryan, Special Field Agent U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Alhambra, Cal.)

Cabbage aphis is causing severe damage to the crop in all sections of the southern part of the state, and under existing weather conditions the results will be indeed serious. The remedy is to spray and spray now. The insect enemies of this plant louse cannot be depended upon as a control, and the grower who does nothing more than pray for rain is losing valuable time that should be spent in the field with a spray outfit.

Nicotine sulphate 40% is used according to the 1-1000 formula, or 1 part of nicotine sulphate to 1000 parts of water. To this mixture should be added sufficient soap or similar spray material to act as an adhesive or "sticker" and "spreader." Common laundry soap is cheap, easily obtained and satisfactory for the purpose. The amount required may be estimated on a basis of 1 pound to each gallon of the mixture.

The following formula will be found to combine the ingredients in the proper proportions:

Nicotine sulphate	1 lb. (1-10 gal.)
Whale oil soap or yellow laundry soap	4 pounds
Water	100 gallons

Make a solution of the soap in 2 or 3 gallons of hot water, and add to the balance of the water in the spray tank then add the nicotine sulphate, stirring well.

The spray is more effectively applied by a power sprayer, since a much more even distribution is obtained. For smaller plantings or where the infestation is scattered, a hand sprayer or a knapsack sprayer is often used. If a power sprayer is not available a barrel sprayer may be used to good advantage.

It must be remembered that this is a contact spray and therefore must strike the aphis to accomplish the desired result. The greater part of the damage to the growing plant is done by the lice feeding on the tender inner leaves. The clusters on the large outer leaves are of chief interest as centers of reinfestation to the central foliage.

REGULATING HENS' EXERCISE.

In practice it is found that if a hen gets about half of the daily ration with little effort, and the rest with moderate effort, she will be well-fed and at the same time take exercise enough to keep her in good physical condition.

As a rule, the mash—whether moist or dry—constitutes from one-third to one-half of the ration. This, being fed in troughs or hoppers, the hens get without exercise. In eating the grain fed in litter fowls at first get it with little effort. As the supply diminishes they must scratch more and more to find what remains.

Under this condition it is necessary to feed grain more liberally in deep litter than in shallow litter; otherwise the supply would run so low at times that the hens would have hard work to get it as fast as they should. The feeder is guided as to the quantity of grain to give by observing how the hens eat the mash, and by occasionally examining the floor to see whether grain is accumulating in the litter.

THE BEAN IN ASIA.

The importance which the bean has assumed in international trade in recent years is one of the romances of commerce, says the Japan Society Bulletin. While it is true that in the Far East its worth has always been fairly well appreciated, merchants of Europe and America have only within the last decade realized its value. Today ships make voyages half-way around the world with no other cargo than beans, this condition being brought about by the fact that there seems to be no end of the uses to which bean products may be put.

The growing of the bean stalk itself has a marked effect in bringing fertility to the land.

It might be mentioned that the reason why the bean is such a valuable product is its high protein content. The people of China and Japan being principally rice eaters, crave a food product containing protein. Western people obtain this element by eating meat, but the bean supplies it in a cheaper form.

CANTATA WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

GIVEN SUNDAY NIGHT BY THE METHODIST CHOIR.

The cantata given by the choir of the Methodist church Sunday evening was highly successful and enjoyed by an audience that filled the main auditorium of the church. The cantata, "The Prophet of Nazareth," by Charles Gabriel, was tuneful and melodious, as is most of his music.

The choir sang with considerable spirit and expression. The obligato, played by Miss Lucile Davenport, for one of the numbers, was much appreciated, and it is the hope of those in charge that she will appear frequently with her violin.

Special parts were taken by Mrs. H. A. Bowman, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Miss Maybelle Elfeld, Miss Irene Hodge, Miss Mary A. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Elfeld, Mrs. Marie Edwards, Franklyn E. Skinner, George Lake, and were given with credit. John Kellie McDonald presided at the piano and organ, playing with his usual excellent expression and finish.

The cantata was directed by R. C. Turner, the able choir leader.

RED CROSS AUXILIARY AT WINTERSBURG.

MRS. CARL M. ROSS ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

An auxiliary of the American Red Cross was organized in the Methodist church at Wintersburg, Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Carl M. Ross as chairman, and Mrs. Andrew H. Moore, secretary.

The new auxiliary was organized with a membership of 40, and will make an effort to increase this number rapidly. The next meeting of the organization will be at the home of Mrs. Nancy E. Dwyer, Thursday afternoon of next week.

FORTY-SEVEN FARM TRACTORS AT WORK.

NUMBER IS INCREASING VERY RAPIDLY.

There are now 47 farm tractors owned by ranchers of this vicinity, according to a statement made by Bert Myers, manager of the Standard Oil Co.'s station here, the number having been more than doubled in the past year.

It will not be long before the farm tractors are as numerous as automobiles on the farms of the valley.

HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

DINNER WILL BE SERVED NEXT WEDNESDAY.

There will be an all-day meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies and Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church in the church parlors next Wednesday, January 16th, beginning at 10 o'clock.

A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies who feel interested in this work.

Dinner will be served at a quarter past twelve for twenty-five cents, to which the public is invited.

ADDITIONAL WINTERSBURG.

Motored to Riverside.

John Dawley and J. O. Pyle motored to Riverside Friday of last week on business.

Will Move to Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kesemann have bought a residence in Orange and will make their future home there. Mr. and Mrs. Kesemann appreciate the kindness of their friends in Huntington Beach, to have them locate there, but Mrs. Kesemann prefers a drier climate. However, they expect to visit Huntington Beach as often as in the past.

ANYONE who desires to save and to have something for the future, will find that the plan which we have adopted will enable you in a short period of time to own property, and with very little effort or sacrifice on your part.

Select the lots from our list, say two lots costing $450. Make the first payment of $24.50. The next month you pay $2.25, the third month $2.50, the fourth month $2.75, and so on, the maximum monthly payment being $11.00. In the first year you will have accumulated $63.00; the second year, $139.50; the third year, $252.00, and the fourth year $384.00. At the end of four and one-half year period, the full amount of $450.00 paid in, completes the payment of the purchase price. During this period we pay the taxes. All you pay is the purchase price of the lots, which become your property.
